

Las Vegas Percussion Collective

CLASSICAL | JAZZ | CONTEMPORARY | WORLD

The Las Vegas Percussion Collective features four of Las Vegas' premier percussionists who, collectively, have played in many of the major productions on the Las Vegas Strip for the last decade. Lead by Dr. Alex Stopa, the group brings percussion instruments to the forefront, performing music that highlights the versatility and musicality of the percussion family.

The Las Vegas Percussion Collective feature a wide range of percussion instruments including marimba, vibraphone, glockenspiel, drums and percussion of the symphony orchestra, and lesser known ethnic percussion instruments. Concerts typically feature works for percussion solo, duo, trio, and quartet, and showcase a wide range of musical styles and influences by composers from Japan, Latin America, Europe, Australia, and the United States. Audiences are amazed by the wealth of sonic possibilities that can be produced using only percussion instruments.

The Las Vegas Percussion Collective offers engaging and entertaining performances that highlight the beauty and versatility of modern-day percussion instruments while also educating the listener with the fascinating history and development of percussion into the 21st century.
